EXPERTISE, EXPERIENCE. TEACHING and RESEARCH

Areas of Expertise and Special Interest include:

The mental health aspects of:

- Children's Response to Trauma
- Childhood Adversity including Child Abuse and Neglect
- Munchausen Syndrome by Proxy/Factitious Illness by Proxy
- Mental Health Aspects of Disadvantaged Families
- Autistic Spectrum Disorders
- Resilient Therapy
- Co-morbid Adolescent Disorders

Experience

I have over thirty years experience of general child and adolescent psychiatry. I have worked in the following specialist areas:

- Child Protection
- Paediatric Liaison
- Children's Learning and Physical Disability
- Looked After Children
- Unaccompanied Asylum-Seeking Children
- Families in Areas of High Socio-Economic Deprivation
- High Dependency Adolescent In-Patient Treatment

My clinical practice includes the continuous provision of outpatient clinics, emergency crisis intervention and second opinions to other consultants, where I hold a caseload of on average one hundred and fifty cases covering the broad spectrum of child & adolescent mental health disorders.

I am trained in a range of therapeutic techniques, including Family Therapy, Cognitive-Behaviour Therapy, Individual Psychodynamic Psychotherapy and Pharmacological Treatments.

Since 1993, I acted as clinical lead & director of services. This involves leading on clinical governance, developing new services as well as the operational management of well-functioning mental health and children's services.

I have provided advice and reports to the UK Health Ombudsman in dealing with health service complaints of national significance and to the Home Office on issues of national policy in child protection.

My expert witness experience has involved providing reports and appearing at court in over 600 cases over an eighteen year period.

I am currently lead psychiatrist at The Priory Hospital's High Dependency Adolescent Unit.

TEACHING AND RESEARCH

I have co-authored a book on "Resilient Therapy" (2007) as well as journal & book chapters on the application of the concept of resilience to direct therapeutic work. I have conducted original research in the area of diagnostic interviewing in cases of suspected child abuse. My lecturing & teaching experience ranges across health, social services, education and the general public, comprising broadcasting by radio and television, national and international conference presentations and involvement in teaching at undergraduate and postgraduate courses. I have organised, chaired and presented at regular BASPCAN & ACAMHS conferences in the south east of England and nationally. I have presented at international conferences, ISPCAN and the World Family Therapy Congress.
